TREADS THE BOARDS

Shoppers at The Wellgate Shopping Centre in Dundee are in for a musical treat this Saturday (21st July) as the city's Tread the Boards Youth Musical Theatre previews their forthcoming productions.

As part of the Dundee Summer Festival, the theatre group will present its summer showcase of songs from the shows, including High School Musical and Les Miserables between 12noon and 4pm.

Currently in rehearsals for their September production of the schools edition of Les Miserables at the Whitehall Theatre, and in preparation to do a repeat run of their sold out production of High School Musical in January 2008 the youngsters aged between nine and 19 years old will perform a mixture chorus and individual songs.

Wellgate Centre Manager John Morton said, "The Wellgate Shopping Centre is at the heart of the Dundee community and we want to support that. Every week throughout summer we have looked to promote local festivals, events, charities and organisations.

"We want to make summer special for our shoppers whether it is taking advantage of all the great offers our retailers have in store, winning our weekly Evening Telegraph Competition of vouchers worth £200 or enjoying the entertainment in the mall – there is something for everyone this summer at Wellgate."

Over the past weeks The Wellgate Shopping Centre has enjoyed entertainment from the City of Discovery Majorettes and the Dundee Blues Bonanza, helped raise money for centre retailer Peacocks for Cancer Research UK and has brought a touch of magic to the mall to coincide with the film release of Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix.
